Georgia Convention -- The Scenes of One Day's Proceedings -- The Eloquence of Loyalty -- Speech of Joshua Hill.

In the Convention of the State of Georgia, on the 7th inst., the proceedings were of a marked character. The pending question was on an address to the President, the business of the Conventiou being nearly terminated. In the Convention was one A. H. Kenan, formerly a member of Congress, and though pardoned, as great a rebel as ever. His business throughout had been to speak and act disloyalty. On this occasion he declared that "he would have regarded it as the highest gratification of his life if the Southern Confederacy had the southern the state of the southern that the declared that the southern that the declared that the southern that the declared that the southern that ded. He said he made this declaration, and was always willing to make it in the face of God and man. When he asked President Johnson for the pardon which he carried in his pocket, he did not unake whining and hypocritical professions of Unionism, but told the President he was a rebel, had not changed his principles, and had merely submitted to the result of the

These disloyal utterauces brought out Kenan's old opponent, Joshua Hill, who, as soon as Kenan had ceased, rose to reply. He is described as a large man, fixed firmly He is described as a large man, fixed firmly upon his legs, with immense head and museular neck; a long, rough, red face, and high forehead, close cropped hair and whiskers, sprinkled with gray, low down on his face; a deeply furrowed brow—there he stood, his whole frame heaving with indignation. It was the noble mastiff, whose patience finally exhausted by the snarling curs around him, had turned to rend them.

After some preliminary remarks he said:
"I am not responsible for the wide rauge this debate has ta\text{\text{\text{c}}en.}\text{\text{l}} would have limited it strictly to the immediate object I had in view; but it has suited the gentleman in view; but it has suited the gentleman in view; but it has suited the gentleman from Baldwin, (Mr. Kenan), to bring in topics foreign and exciting, and uot germain to the question before us. When he presents an issue, that I feel reflects upon me, I canuot decline my own defense. He has eulogized the gallaut deeds of Southern heroes, and rejoiced at his own devotion to the late Confederacy. It is far from my feeling or purpose to deprecate the hard ensanguined fields, I can afford to do justice to the valor and daring of those whose nied Christian burial. fortunes led them to battle. I never pro-fessed, because I never felt it, devotion to the ill-starred Coufederacy. I regarded it from the first with open disfavor, and never abated my disapproval of its insane origin. Without attacking the personal motives of the men who inaugurated secession. (for among them were many that I numbered amongst my nearest friends), it was my deliberate opinion that it was unwise, rash unto madness, and destructive of the best interests and happiness of this people. Never during the bloody progress of the unfortunate strife that followed its of the unfortunate strict hat followed its enactment was there a day that I would not, had I possessed the power, have ar-rested the horrible revolution; and I appeal to the gentleman from Baldwin, who tells us be, too, was a Unlou man in that unhappy day that wrought our ruin as a peohappy day that wrought our ruin as a peo-ple, if he, had he possessed the power of au autocrat, would not have arrested in its mad career the cruel, relentless, heart-blighting, hope-crushing war, so wantonly,

"I fraukly avow had I been able to op-pose successful and ium diate destruction to its frightful progress, I would with alac-rity have done it. From first to last, I could never discern any reasonable prospect of the success of the contest; nor could I per-ceive any benefits that could flow from it. Thinking as I did, feeling as I did, loving my kind as I do, how could I but deplore the infatuation that brought upon this unlarppy land this unmitigated calamity? A desire to preserve from needless sacrifice the poor, unoffending youth of the land, of itself, were enough to have made me mourn the unhaliowed and damning act. I thought and I said that the material interests of our people, and especially the cherished institu-tion of slavery, withdrawn as it was from its ancient protector, the Constitution of the United States, the only power by which it could have been preserved or perpetuated, were by one fell swoop destroyed and lost forever. What sane mlud could see safety and prosperity in a country surrounded on three sides as with a cordon of avowed adversaries, and with its ocean front making a current of more than five thousand miles of exposed border? This, of itself, was enough to mark the measure as one of inso insanely, imposed upon us.

I recall an interview with Com. Blake, of the Americau navy, who had surveyed his country's coast, and whose maps and illustrations are part of his country's history, in which, in my solicitude on this sub-ject, I asked of him the favor to inform me of the extent of coast from the mouth of the Potomac river to the Rio Grande; and, as I now remember, taking a pair of divers and a scale, he gave me the result, and it was more than two thousand miles. In my mind, I then ascended the Potomac to its passage through the mountains; thence west on the crest of the Alleghenies to its termination; thence to El Paso and down the Rio Grande to the Gulf, and contemplated, in all its magnitude, the frontler to be guarded. Without arrogating any superior wisdom to myself, had others paused to rior wisdom to myself, had others paused to consider this and other insurmountable difficulties that loomed up like mountain summits, this deplorable, miserable ill-conceived, unjustifiable, self-destroying revolution could never have had existence. From it sprung the Confederacy. I could not and did not rejoice at its creation; and I never saw the day while it lasted when I loved it better than when it began. I asked nothing of it; for, as an honorable man. I nothing of it; for, as an honorable man, I could not. It owed me nothing; and when could not. It owed me nothing; and when my poor boys volunteered enthusiastically to fight for what they deemed the cause of the South, I said to them with their maskets on their shoulders: 'Remember, my rhildren, you go into organized military ed education.'

commands, with no power on my part to afford you promotion; for, if it costs me my life, and the life of every member of my household, I will not seek favors of a Government that, if left to me, would never have extend. What results could to me have extend. have expected. What results could to me have efforded compensation for what I have lost? The wealth of the world, if coined into diamonds, would be us nothing to soothe the griefs I bear about me. How can I recur to the norrid past but with feelings of undying regret, of endiess condemnation?

"Eulogies have been expended upon the Mail subscribers, in advance, per year, $9 00 it has gone its miserable act of conscription and ruthlessly tore from the hearth stone and ruthlessly tore from the hearth stone the youth of the South, and dragged them to bloody fields, and deprived them of their young lives. With it, thank Heaven, have died its infamous laws of Impressment that seized the hard earnings of honest industry, that plundered the people's barns, deprived them of their grain, and gave them worthless paper in exchange. I am not revenge ful. Whatever wrougs I have suffered by the mad folly of others I will try to forget. There are those prominent in this work of destruction that I know will have the magnanimity to acknowledge themselves indebted for my kindness.

"The Convention will excuse me if, I have tresspassed on its patlence in giving utterance to this feeble expression of my feelings and opinions. I cannot add any new reason to what I, on a former occasion, have urged why I desire reference made in this address of the Convention to the President address of the Convention to the President of the United States, to our action of to-day, annulling the war debts. I do not say pub-lie debt, for I choose to distinguish between the legal obligations of the State, incurred before the war, and that incurred after, in-dependent and irrespective of its prosecu-tion, and the mountain of debt imposed on the people as the result of secession. Let no man infer from this that I tolerate, in "The gentleman says the President looks with more favor upon those who fought for the rebellion than those who refused to do so. I do not believe it; but even were it true, it would not induce me to say one word or think one thought in favor of that word or think one thought in favor of that hideous wickedness, or check my heart or tongue in denunciation of the damning deed. I never fought for it; I never courted its favor; I never deprecated its wrath. All that I could do for my country, while the storms of passion and treason were raging around me, I cheerfully did. I make no apology for refusing to take arms in that unhallowed cause. If he who fought be-neath the flag of the rebellion is preferred before me, let it be so. In standing by the Union of States, I risked more than the loss of goods and political preferment. I staked my life upon the issue. For sooner than raise my hand against the Government, I would have thought it happiness to die!"

The effect of this speech was almost elec-tric. Each separate climax was greeted with cheers, which the Chairman no longer eudeavored to suppress; and when the out-burst was finished, the old State House shook with applause. So loyal were the sentiments of the speaker, and so hearty the approbation which greeted them, that no friend of the country looking on could fail to bless the Convention and forgive all its short coming.

its short-comings.
Poor Kenan endeavored to rally a little, by asking Mr. Hill if he did not, during the war, when a candidate for Governor of Georgia, write a letter endorsing the Confederacy.
"No!" indignantly thundered Hill; "no!

I wrote a letter refusing to be a candidate, but saying if geutlemen chose to vote for me I could not complain. I also sald, in the same letter, that I had never asked a man to enter the Confederate army, and I never would; because, having declined to do so myself, I could not ask others to do it. I did not aet to assist the rebellion, and nothing on earth could have induced me to raise a linger in its support!"

Another loud cheer greeted this reply, and poor Kenan evidently had enough.

An Elegant Recreation.

Another punishment peculiar to Mobile, has come to light. If the negro will not work, he must be shot. Idleuess is a capi-work, he must be snot, includes is a capi-tal offense—among the blacks. Whether it is punishable at all among the whites, is not stated, though we suspect not. The cheerfuluess with which the Mobile papers record the shooting of a black man for refusing to labor, indicates how truly in earnest the whites are in the great work of propagating industrious habits among the propagating industrious habits among the freedmen. As an instance, we reproduce the following from the Mobile Daily Times of the 8th. The coolness with which this murder—it would be called by that name elsewhere—is recorded, and the flippant levity of the writer over what elsewhere would be looked upon as a bloody crime, will serve to enlighten the public on the subject of the refinement, the civilization. subject of the refinement, the civilization and the Christianity that prevail in the first

He states, in his official dispatches, "that every insurrectionist is being hung as soon as captured." Nelson does not even wait for the short ceremony of a court-martial; he hangs on sight. Furthermore, he shoots on sight—one of the feats under his direction being to open fire from one of her Majesty's gunboats "upon a collection of eight hundred women and children." Nelson was humane in this little affair. The son was humane in this little affair. The gunboat only fired three 22-pound shells among these non-combatants. After they had burst, and probably killed and wounded forty or fifty, Nelson was delighted with the sight of all the rest of the women and children running away. Ex-President Pierce is reported danger-ously ill at Concord, from a disease con-racted during the Mexican war. Dr. Maddox, the rebel Virginlan, who shot a United States Paymaster at Alexandria, a few days since, has been acquitted by the authorities of that city.

It is said that Gen. Logan was appointed Minister to Mexico at the request of Gen. Grant, who does not hesitate to declare himself in favor of driving the French out Highway robberies and burglaries have become so frequent and daring in St. Louis lately, as to create general alarm. Two men have been killed in encounters with highway robbers, and people are nightly robbed on the street, and houses broken into by the burglars. About noon, on Friday, Collecting Messenger of the United States Savings' Association, having $35,000 iu his ponch, was knocked down, on one of the most frequented streets, and the money seized. The Collector, however, fired a revolver at the robber, who dropped the money, but escaped. Benvest & Co.'s, Bank was also robbed Friday of $7000. No clue to the robbers.

It is stated that anthentic information been received that Maximilian is withdrawing all his troops from outposts, and concentrating them at three points, Vera Cruz, City of Mexico, and San Luis Potosl, that the Emperor will return to Enrore, and that there are many other indication that the Empire is very shaky just now. Accounts from the Russian Telegraph Expedition show that it is making very en-

SPEECE BY GEN. GRANT-WHAT HE THINKS ABOUT MEXICO.—Gen. Grant has BEAUREGARD AND A DEMOCRATIC at last made a real speech. It was brief, as might have been expected, but it was direct, forcible, and meant something. On Friday night he visited the Union League Club rooms in New York, where he was adthe crushed Rebellion, said: Grasping at the hopeful opening made by the temporary success of these conspirators, European ambition has striven to establish another empire over a sister republic.

Maximilian, by stranger arms, has been forced upon her brave and unwilling people. Fouler wrong never outraged human annuals than the present occupation of Maximilian. anuals than the present occupation of Mexico by the French. We sympathize with our sister republic in her day of adversity, and firmly believe in her coming deliver-ance. A Mexican Grant will yet restore his country, as you have saved your own. Gen. Grant replied:

I hope you will excuse me from thanking you at any great length. But there is one sentiment uttered in your address which is mine also. It is the one touching the future

PRESIDENT LINCOLN ON SCOTCHMEN AND GENEALOGIES.—A traveler from Australia, who visited this country a few months since, is giving an account of his American experiences in a colonial paper. Of his interview with President Lincoln, he says:

'I was introduced merely as a gentleman roan Australia. 'Aye, you come a long way to see me,' he said. 'Yes,' I replied, 'I have come about as far as one can come in this world.' 'Are you an Englishman?' said he. 'I am a Scotchman,' said I. 'Ah,' said he, 'the Scotch are a shrewd, hardheaded, clever set of results that you are fartheaded. headed, clever set of people; they are first-rate predestinarian Presbyterians. I Lave always found them a long-headed people.'
After some more remarks of this sort, I remarked: 'After the complimentary manner in which you have spoken, Mr. President, respecting the Scotch, I must venture to hope that you can trace your genealogical tree back to a Scottish root?' 'Ah,' said he, langhing, 'I was raised on the prairies, where there are no trees at all.'"

GEN. GRANT AND MEXICO.—The most important part of Gen. Grant's brief speech on the Mexican question in New York last week was omitted in the published reports. In closing, he said that this (the Mexican uestiou) was one of the few topics on which he allowed himself to speak freely. is known that the appointment of Ger logan to the Mexican mission was made on Gen. Grant's recommendation, and at in private conversation in New York, he freely expressed himself in favor of driving the French from Mexico at the point of the bayonet.

NASBY.-The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial says:

The removal of the distinguished divine, Rev. P. V. Nasby, from Saints' Rest, N. J., is a loss from which the clam-catchers will not soon recover. If I may make a suggestion in spiritual matters, it is that Brother Nasby go to Kentucky, where I am sure he will soon gather around him a congregation that will delight to have him as their paster. There is no other Areset woon. r pastor. There is no other Ararat upon which the ark of Democracy can rest.

There are reports again in circulation of Cabinet changes, but it is regarded as in no wise probable that any will be made until after the meeting of Congress. A well known Pennsylvania politician is being urged by his friends for Secretary of the Navy. The rumors of changes, doubtless, arose from this fact. arose from this fact.

AN IMPORTANT SPEECH.

More importance may be attached to th peech of Hon. Schuyler Colfax, published esterday morning, than to a similar effort by any other individual member of Con-House of the last Congress, and without much doubt will be elected speaker of the next without much opposition or competition. He will doubtless exert a strong influence in shaping the course of the House upon the question of admitting Southern Representatives. Mr. Colfax is not a radical. He has long been a prominent member of Congress, and though a strong Republican, he has been distinguished for calmness and moderation. He belongs to the class of the more moderate Republicans of the West, and his speech may be regarded, to a great extent, as embodylng the vlews of that class, and of the moderate Republican members of the next Congress, His speech in Washington on Saturday night, without much doubt, forecasts what will be the action of the House upon the question of admitting the Southern Representatives. He is opposed to the early admission of these Representatives on the ground that the so-called seceded States have not come up to the requirements of the the Government in reconstructing their State governments. They have, besides, elected men to represent them in Congress who, it was well known, could not take the oath that would be required of them on taking their seats, and in most instances over men who avowed that they could take it. Southern constituencies thus preferred General Howard, Commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau, has returned from his inspection tour. He reports encouraglugly with reference to the freedmen, and expresses his belief that in the conrse of the next year they will be in a condition to take cars of themselves. He does not deem it judicious, however, to withdraw the National troops from the Southern Constituences thus presented to yield to a propensity to vote for men who had been active, prominent rebels, rather than vote for men who could take this oath, and who would stand a fair chance of being admitted to seats. Of the Representatives elect in the non-reconstructed sentatives elect in the non-reconstructed States, very few, perhaps none of them can conscientlously take the test oath. Had ing, as he says, about to leave the State for these State sent to Washington delegation an uncertain period, has issued an address to his fellow-citizens, thanking them, though he was not elected, for the votes they gave him, and presenting his ideas of their duties under the circumstances. Although he does not fully concur in all the plays for the State Conventions a cheerful willingness to comply fully with the requirements of the Government. Congress could scarcely have refused to admit them this winter: There is every reason to believe that there will be no essential difference of opinion on this subject between the major ity In Congress and the President. That the President ls not satisfied with the results of the State Conventions and the elections in those States is shown clearly enough in his dispatches prempting the flagging Conventions to their duty, and his instructions to the Provisional Governors to continue to exercise their functions until relieved, after Governors and Legislatures had been cho sen by the people. Whatever may be the action of Congres upon the question of the admission of Repesentatives from the South, it will no doubt receive the approbation of the great najority of the people of the North. The people are determined that the legitimate fruits of the war shall not be lost, and the party in power alone possesses the confldence of the loyal masses. The hope of the Southern politicians that, through division in the Republican party upon negro suffrage, etc., their old allies in the North would get iuto power, is as delusive as the hope of Southern independence. The Union party know too well the importance of The Assembly of Lower California passed an act recently recognizing the Mexican upon all questions of minor importance the last four years to "agree to disagree taking care that the great cause which they had most at heart should not suffer by dis-The Florida Convention voted to admit negro testimony in the courts of that State agreement in non-essentlals. MEETING.

The "National Democracy" of Louisians supported H. W. Allen for Governor at the election just held in that State. This Alleu is the man who acted, during the war, as dressed on behalf of the Club by Benjamin the chief magistrate of that part of Louisi-F. Beekman, Esq., who, after referring to ana uot subdued by the Union forces. Naturally enough he became the most available candidate for the Democracy for the same position when the question arose of rebel and Union sections of the State. Large meetings were held in his favor in New Orleans, and the ultra rebel element did all it could to Insure his success. There was very little to choose between Allen and the Conscrvative Union candidate, Wells,

But it is instructive to witness how the old rebel elements commingle, whenever there is an opportunity. At one of the Allen meetings in the "Crescent City," Gen. Beauregard was the first Vice Presideut. A New Orleans paper, in alluding to the reception of the name by the audience says:

We doubt if the walls of the old building in which the meeting was held ever echoed with such cheering before. The audience seemed to be nearly beside itself with wild enthusiasm. Minutes elapsed before the cheering subsided, and then a call for "Beauregard" came from every part of the house, but although his name was used authoritatively—at least, we presume so—he was not present, greatly to the disappointment of ali.

> Cleveland -- Western Reserve. [For the Union Press.]

A Southern Indianian, sojourning in Cleveland, writes me: "Cleveland still flourishes. It is destined, I believe, to be a great manufacturing city. I notice it refined three millions and a half gallons of petrothree millions and a half gallons of petro-leum oil, and in oue year paid to Govern-ment nearly seven hundred thousand dol-lars. Here the copper from Lake Superior is smelted. It has a great many manufactor-ies of iron, marble and wood. It builds more ships than any other city of the West. Some built supply the European market. Dur-ing the past two years there have been built here nineteen screw steamers, averaging 612 tons each: sixteen steam tugs: seventeen tons each; sixteen steam tugs; seventeen barks, averaging 559 tons each; twenty-four lake schooners, and a number of small craft. And then it is the metropolis of the fine agricultural region of the Western Reserve—which, in 1862, made 3320 tons of butter, and 1110 tons of observe. Uthink the ter and 1110 tons of cheese. I think the Western Reserve, with its 65,300 square miles, will always be a respectable portlor of the Union." of the Union."

What my friend says of Cieveland ought to be true also of Louisville: Louisville flourlshes, but not like Cleveland. Louisville should be a great manufacturing and commercial city. Her natural advantages can't be beat. The metropolis of the Rucgrass region and the mistress of a vast water power, as yet uncontrolled, has a great future, if she will be true to herseil, as wide-awake and go-ahead, as Cincinnati, Cleveland, Indianapolis, or eveu Evansville.

CITY AND GENERAL NEWS.

POLICE PROCEEDINGS-Monday, Nov. 20. Whisky and other stimulants had turned the heads of a number of persons during gress. Mr. Colfax was the Speaker of the Saturday night and on the Sabbath, and they had to pay the usual penalties ln such cases, to-wit: John Kirrick, $5; John Mc-Cue, $5; Patrick Fahey, $5; John Butler, $5; John Quinnaman, $10; Wm. Josa, $5; Pat McGlore, $10; Frank' Besan, $5; David Sauchan, $10.

Emile Hartman, charged with the murder of Mr. Jacob Von Au, had his case continued till Wednesday.

Foster Smith (f. m. c.) obtaining money under false pretenses of Mr. Filo. Continued. D. Barnes was turned over to the mllita-ry for having been drunk-he being a soldier. Morgan O'Brien is accused of having stolen an umbrella from Mr. Jesse Hammond. Continued till to-morrow. Louisa Lloyd, charged with stealing $6 from Jas. F. Smith. $150 to answer. The Grand Jury appeared, and began their labors.

Patrick Ryan, stealing blankets, &c., from steamer Morning Star. Discharged. Albert Martin (f. m. c.) ls charged with aving been disorderly on Saturday.

John McDermott, shooting and wounding Wm. Irwin. Discharged. Wm. Mullen, vagrancy. Bail in $100 for thirty days.

A peace warrant was disposed of.

A MASTA DON TUSK FOUND .- On Saturday vening last the workmen engaged in digging sand from a pit at the head of Dewey street, New Albany, struck with their shovels and picks upon what they supposed to be a log. Upon clearing the sand off it, however, it was discovered to be an immense tusk of the purest ivory, seven feet three lnches in length, and at the thickest part eight and one-quarter inches in diameter. It weighed nearly one hundred pounds. The tusk is supposed to be that of a mastadon. It is certainly a very great curiosity. Several years ago, a tusk nearly of the same dimensions of the above was found near the same place, and is now in possession of Dr. John Sloan, of New Albany. In taklug it out of the ground the tusk was broken into several pieces, the ivory having become very much softened. A piece of it about two feet in length and eight inches in diameter may be seen at the drug store of Mr. Hoffeld. The balance of it was carried off by different persons for preservation as a curiosity.

LOUISVILLE THEATER.-Miss Ettie Henderson made her first appearance to a very good audieuce last night. The play of the 'Youthful Days of Richelieu" did not go off as well as could be wished, some of the actors not being perfect; nevertheless, the audience was satisfied. Miss Henderson is sure to become a favorite with our people, as she has a style that cannot fail to wiu favor. Her Katy O'Sheal is charmlng, reminding one of Maggie Mitchell. Miss Henderson is a danseuse of much modesty and grace, and a charming vocalist. She appears to-night in the fine play of Satan in Paris, and we would advise those seeking fine amusement to go early.

SHARPLEY AND SANDFORD'S MINSTREL union for that; they have learned during TROUPE.-This band opened at Wood's Theater last night to a crowded audieuce. It is a splendid combination of musical talent. The quartette is a fine one and the different songs were well given. Sam Sandford was very funny indeed, and has dience in a perfect uproar. His hits at the times were perfectly side-spliting. They give a new programme to-night.

> THE MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE.-The assembling of the Board at the daily 'change inaugurated yesterday, was a very decided success. All the leading business houses were represented, and it will be seen by our commercial summary that much good feeling and activity prevailed.

The meeting at noon to-day promises not only to be as large as that of yesterday, but electing a nominee to preside over both the far more interesting and spirited. Samples uot only of "high wines," but the cholcest champaigne, are likely to be shown and the corks drawn.

MEETING OF SCHOOL BOARD.-There was special meeting of the Board of School Trustees last night. The only business transacted was the passage of a resolution requesting the Council to pay over $80,000, the balance of $200,000 authorized by the last Legislature to pay for school building. This amount will finish paying for the new schools already built, and purchase the Presbyterian College, which we believe will be used for a grammar school.

Some Mud.-Walking along Jefferson street yesterday afternoon we noticed a man standing upon a load of coal cracking his whip furiously at some bubbles a few yards in front of him. We inquired what he was doing. He replied that his lead mule had gone out of sight about half an hour before. On close inspection we found everywhere manifested throughout the the animals ears sticking out. The balance of the quadruped had disappeared under

NEW ENTERPRISE.-We learn that a joint stock company of butchers is being organlzed for the purpose of building market places in different parts of the city. We hope they will procure a charter and that market places will be erected in convenient. localities. Market houses should never be built in the middle of a business thoroughfare, and we hope ours will be torn down as soon as possible. A den of thieves was discovered and theinmates arrested at Chattanooga, on the 15th. They had been chiefly devoted to theft from the trains. Mr. Tinkham, sgent of the Nashville and Chattanooga Company, stated that freight to the amount of $10,000 had been stolen during the past three weeks.

CRIMINAL COURT-First Day .- The Court net yesterday, Judge Johnston on the bench. A Grand Jury was impannelled, and returned a number of Indictments. Commonwealth vs. Patrick Welch, steallng a watch. Found guilty, and sentenced to penitentlary one year.

Mun.—The present condition of our streets is absolutely disgraceful to our municipal authorities. It is almost impossible to cross some of our thoroughfares. The office of Street Inspector should be abolished at once, and the streets cleaned by individual enterprise.

The company engaged at Wood's ison county by his "unpopularity." But what made him unpopular—because he has for a couple of years past sustained the Union, and advocated in the cauvass the ratification of the Constitutional Amend-Nelson as Pauline,

OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS .- We are Indebted to Mr. George H. Tingley, jr., Superintendent of the Public Schools, for a copy of the annual report of the Board of Trustees for 1864-5. From the report, we find that the financial condition of the public schools is better than for several years past. The debt was reduced last year over $10,000. Through the liberality of the General Council the Board has been enabled to lncrease the salaries of the female teachers, thereby silencing the complaints on that subject which have been so rife for several years past. There has been no suspension of any of the schools for any length of time during the past year. Two only were closed for a short time on accourt of high water. Last year the attention of the Board was called to the importance and necessity of introducing physical training as a recular branch of instruction in the public schools. It was recommended that a competent instructor be employed to assist the teachers in this subject, and see that the exercises were adapted to the wants and condition of the children. With one exception, but little progress was made last year.

The Principal of the Fourth Ward School, who was convinced of the benefits to be derived from the adoption of a judicious course of gymnastics ln his school, gave the subject, during the last few weeks of the session, considerable attention. The pupils In the Primary and Secondary Departments were taught principally the arm movements, while those of the Grammar Departments used the dumb-bells in addiion. Although the teachers and pupils, for a short time, labored under the disadvanage of not having suitable music, yet the proficiency attained in so short a time was emarkable, and bighly gratifying to all who witnessed the exercises. We make the following extracts from the report of the Finance Committee: The estimated income of the School Board for 1865-6, is as follows: From City of Louisville ... From State of Kentucky... $85,000 From City Court ..... ... 1,000

.$106,000 Total ..... The estimated income, herewith submitted, we believe will be increased rather than diminished, while the expenditures may not be greater than as follows: Salaries of Teachers, Janitors, Super-intendent and Secretary Incidental Expenses.. ... 15,000 ..$113,000

SACRAMENTO PETROLEUM COMPANY.-The property of this company consists of numerous leases upon Crocus creek and its tributaries, in Cumberland county, Ky. It now has the necessary funds with which to begin the work of developing its lands, and will forthwith sink an oil well upon the land leased of James English, on Crocus creek. The location of this well is at a point one mile distant from the great well of he New York and Kentucky Company, on the English farm. The company is now fully organized, and in working order. The foilowing are its directors : Dr. J. Lawence Smith, E. B. Owsley, C. C. Spencer, J. Louis Schroeder, P. Bannon, Andrew Graham. Joseph A. Aunes, T. C. Winfrey, R. T. Durrett.

SEPARATION OF THE CITY AND COUNTY. We learn that application will be made at the next session of the Legislature for u separation of Louisville city from Jefferson county. We have no doubt the Legislature will make the separation, as the welfare of both city and county demands it. At present the county owns thirty thonsand dollars in the Court House and fivesixteenths of the Jail. By paying this amount on the separation the city would be greatly benefitted and the county receive enough to erect commodious buildings in its new county-seat.

SURRENDERED BY THEIR SURETIES .-Hardin Simmons, Isaac Bird, and Mike Doland, who have been held to bail in the City Court, were yesterday given up by their bondsmen and lodged in jail.

A Young Robber.-Robert McClish, a boy about seventeen years of age, was lodged in jail by Officer Risley for knocking a small boy down and robbing him of a pocket-book and mouey.

A runaway horse, attached to a wagon, jumped upon the pavement on Market street, near Hancock, yesterday morning, and demolished a lot of furniture.

Persous should remember and close their cellar doors. We heard of a lady falling through one last night, but fortunately she escaped without injury.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 17.-The Alte SAN FRANCISCO, November 17.—The Alta California has news of the arrlyal of the expedition of the Western Union Telegraph Company at Petropalowaski, Russian Siberia, on the 16th of Cctober. From the time the expedition left this port everything has worked like a charm. The most sanguine could not have expected to succeed better. No accidents have happened. They had landed all the parties necessary to carry out the explorations projected and tney had gone to work regulary. They can but anticipate great results by another year. Everywhere they have been most cordially received. Every assistance has been given by all whom they meet. The expedition left Silka August 23, reaching the redoubt on the 13th, where they left Maj. Kennicutt's party bound for the Yankeen or Klnehpeak river country. The following is a list of his party:

The Return of the Pirate Shenandoah to England -- What the London Papers Say -- The Shenandoah to be Turned Over to the United States.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—In the foreign files by the City of London, it is announced that Capt. Waddell, of the Shenandoah, on tak-lng a pilot at Liverpool, asked it the American war had ceased.

The Times says that the reappearance of the Shenandoah in British waters at the present juncture is untoward and unwescome even. It is fortunate that in this instance nothing practically turns on the ori-ginal equipment of ships thus placed in our hands, although built and manned in fraud of the neutrality laws. There was no proof at the time of sailing to justify her detention. On every principle of law she belongs to the government which has succeeded to the rights and property of the Confederate government. The most serious question is concerning the officers and crew. It is to be greatly regretted that the ship ever came back to England.

The Times says that the work of proving that he didn't know of the end of the war at the time he destroyed the whale ships, rests with Captain Waddle. It says that neither he nor his crew can, under any cir-cumstances, be given over to the United States. The crime of which they really stand accused, supposing them to have wil-fully ignored the termination of hostilities, is that of piracy, and on this charge it is possible they may be apprehended and tried before an English court of justice. In his long cruise and long voyage he never encountered British or American men-of-

Louis Saturday for the Ohio river.

The sinking of the Ben Stickney in the Mississippi river last week involves a loss of about $100,000 upon the Atlantic and Mississippi steam ship line.

The hull of the Ben Stickney was built at Cannellton, Ind., by Sam King, of this city, who established his boat-yard at that point early in 1864, and put up the frame for Capt. A. McGill, of this city, formerly of the Atlantic. He sold his contracts, for hull, machinery, upper works, outfit and to David Gibson, of Cincinnati, and the latter subsequently transferred the boat to the late owners.

DR. EELL'S WRITING FLUID.

Dr. Eells' Writing Fluid. The ink manufactured by Dr. S. W. Eells at this place, is fast working itself into publie favor. Wherever it is tried, it is pronounced the best made in this country, and equal to Arnold's celebrated inks. Read the following certificate from the Fourth Auditor of the Treasury Department, at Washington. The Dr. has shown us the original certificate, and we can vouch for its genuineness.—Mansfield (O.) Heram.

I hereby certify that I have been using, for some time past, in my office, Dr. S. W. Reis' Ins., both his writing and copying fluids, manufactured at Mausfield, (thio; and that I am lighty pleased with it, and consider it equat in every respect, if not inperior, to Arnoid's imported link, and I think less liable to mould.

I therefore recomme d it as worthy the attention of the Government Departments in Washington, and all persons who desire a really superior article of ink of American mannfacture.
